CHEATING

Cheating is defined as any activity, behavior, or procedure that an applicant employs that would enable him/her to pass an examination by dishonest, fraudulent or deceitful means. Examples of cheating would be, but are not limited to, obtaining answers from another applicant's answer sheet, using prepared notes during the examination, discussing the examination with others prior to completing the examination, referring to textbooks, or having someone take the examination for the applicant.

The applicant's personal belongings (books, notes, briefcases, etc.) cannot be brought to the examination room.

Absolutely no copying of examination items is permitted. Anyone found removing or attempting to remove test materials or notes from the examination room may be denied licensure.

Any applicant who is suspected of cheating may be removed from the examination by the test monitor. An applicant would be suspected of cheating if the test examination monitor witnessed something unusual or if another applicant made a complaint.

Any applicant seen giving or receiving assistance or who is found with unauthorized materials or who violates test security will be asked to surrender all examination materials and to leave the test center.

Communicating test contents is a violation of test security and may result in denial of licensure.
